Tessahoc

We, the Class of 1963, present in Tessahoc a record of our graduation year, a valuable step in the long walk.

The staff wishes to preserve this year for all members of Cohasset High School and hopes this edition of Tessahoc will serve to recall many happy memories.

Dedication

"The teacher who walks in the shadow of the temple, among his followers, gives not of his wisdom but rather of his faith and lovingness.

If he is indeed wise he does not bid you enter the house of his wisdom, but rather leads you to the threshold of your own mind."

Kahil Gibran

We, the senior class, gratefully dedicate the 1963 Tessahoc to Mr. Frank A. MacDonald.

Class Prophecy

Hi there: This is Hugh Morgan, your "This Is Tonight Show" M.C. We're proud tonight to present another first on television. For a change of pace our program is coming to you from Cohasset, Massachusetts, where I am attending my 25th class reunion. Things haven't changed much around here except for the fantastic, newly constructed Cohasset High School. The new school, which you can now see, is located on the water. This gives the students an opportunity for a stroll on the beach and a swim during their lunch hour.

Well, here we are at the large bronze doors of the school. Let's follow our cameras in. I'm now stepping down into a large circular auditorium. Picture, if you can, fifty-three doorways each signifying a different career in life. And here is a coincidence—if I'm not mistaken—yes, here comes one of my former classmates—none other than the internationally known architect, Mr. Robert White, who designed this new high school.

"Bob, I just can't get over the fantastic layout of this school."

"Well, actually, Hugh, it's modeled after the old Cohasset Music Circus of the 60's. The auditorium and adjoining classrooms combine the best in both modern and contemporary design. I'm on the Reunion Committee, so I'm a bit tied up by last minute changes. See you later, old boy, in the west banquet hall."

And now folks, just coming through the door which is the shape of a musical note is Larry Lincoln and his band. Appearing with them tonight is George Laugelli, a regular member of our own "This Is Tonight Show" Band.

Oh, can you see just to the left of the stage here? It's Janet Sargent, the person responsible for making all the necessary arrangements for this reunion. With her are Marina Shapiro and Ruth Ross, co-owners of the Shapiross Catering Service. Looks as if they're giving everything a last minute check.

The auditorium is now beginning to fill up, and right now coming through the doors are Nancy Orr, Sue Rockwood, Dana Merrill, Andrea Littlejohn, and Peggy Buckley all in sterile, white linen and nurse's caps. I could just catch something about Joan Keating's not being able to come tonight because her seven little girls have the measles.

I see that our former class president, Charlie Hall, who now owns a hubcap factory is chatting with Bill Vanderweil who owns his own shoe store here in town. The talk looks serious. They're probably discussing business matters with former all-star football players Ed Young and Dennis Reardon, who now own local restaurants.

Moving around a bit now here in the corner, we find Kathy Joyce, former Olympic star and Mary Shyne who—you will remember—was the first girl to play first base with the Red Sox. They are having a heated discussion on why girls are better athletes than boys.

I can see Rosemary Boyer is just squeezing through a Rabbit-hole door. She weighs 200 pounds now; and although she's forty, she says she's going to wait another five years before she will even think of marriage.

The pearl-lined doorway to the right of the crystal fountains is opening now. Here is —yes, here is Dottie Detrano, the glamorous hair stylist, now working for Mr. Kenneth of New York. Behind Dottie, in a somewhat conservative black dress is Sue Howe, a stunning brunette—also a stylist for Mr. Kenneth. We understand she dyes her hair to match her ensemble.

Looking now at the monitor, I see that our portable cameras have picked up Jane Harkness just arriving in her Porsche. Behind her—yes, behind her is Police Sergeant

Gary Studley in Car 54. And speaking of traveling fast, there are a few members of the class who aren't able to be here with us tonight. David Scott, according to a late news bulletin, is still orbiting the earth in his space ship. Paul Devin and Bob Donovan are on a "business trip" to Kansas City. Dan Haven is now working on the Sahara Desert irrigation project as a nitroglycerin consultant. Another traveler not present tonight is Lois Hurley, a social secretary to Queen Elizabeth at Buckingham Palace.

But seated just below the stage I see two people I'm sure you'd like to meet. They are Katherine Crolius, recent discoverer of a new wonder drug, and Carolyn Cooney, noted for her revolutionary surgical dietetic techniques.

Jane Bach, C.H.S. basketball coach, and Ed Fortier, an English composition teacher at C.H.S., have just told me that Kevin O'Connell cannot be here tonight. Kevin is teaching Spanish in Italy.

My announcer Johnny Rhodes has just told me that Barbara Sencabaugh has been elected president of the N.G.W.A., National Gag Writers of America. By the way, Babs is the funny girl behind the scenes in our "This Is Tonight Show." She keeps us in on jokes. Johnny also says that Elizabeth Wilcoxon was responsible for the riot in New York City last week. She accidently pulled the switch which turned off all the juice in the subway tunnels. Judy Corcoran—so I have heard by way of the grapevine—is now sharing her "Brandy" with someone.

I have here a telegram from Debby Bates, now serving in President Bob Kennedy's Peace Corps. Debby is sorry she can't be with us but sends her warm greetings from Outer Mongolia.

The commotion behind me seems to indicate something important is going on. Why, it's Wendy Malon that famous star of stage and screen who just came through the Golden Door. She is accompanied by Police Chief Tom Perry. One of our more distinguished guests is Brad Wood in Army dress. Talking to him is Richard Follett who is currently directing construction of a giant sea wall by the beach which he designed ten years ago.

Terry Carraher, although married, still sells goldfish in her father's camera shop. Carter Raymond spends his time hauling boats. The business end of his operation is handled by "Tessahoc's" successful supervisor Mike Perrow. Tonight is a double celebration for building contractor Lot Bates who completed his millionth house just two hours ago. Carol Figuriredo, Joyce Higgins, and Cindy Gallagher plan to move into the house tomorrow.

Our foreign exchange students Ute Simon and Janset Yesem have returned to America for this gala event.

Paul Lawrence and Marie Ainslie recommend for an afternoon of relaxation Paul Davis' Body Building Club.

I just can't believe that after twenty-five years the class of '63 has finally come together on the "Tonight Show." As I look through the large oak doors in the west wing, I can see more of the class jamming the hallways. Just beyond the main entrance I can see Bev Ricketts, Pat Rautiala, and Louise Pierce. Each is now happily married and lives in different states. Well, I suppose there are some in every crowd —yes, the confirmed bachelors of the class Jack Trayers, David Williams, Buddy Wilmore, Jimmy Salyards, Bobby Brown, and Paul McNeil, who are just entering the west wing.

Oh yes, I read in the newspaper that Merryl Gillespie is now in the lead in the Bermuda Sailboat Races. She will return to Massachusetts sometime next month. Some other classmates were unable to attend our reunion. I was informed before the show that Kathy Keefe, Lynne Rucker, Grace Silvia, Ruth Kelly and Marsha O'Quin are on extended European Cruises. It seems to me that I can remember reading the other day about the headway gained by Marie Snelson, Barbara Towle, Henry Andrews, Greg Byrnes, and Kenny Souther in the creation of a new discovery to eternal youth. Oh, yes, and how can we forget the efforts of Susie Knight, Ginny Carlson, and Jane Golden towards peace as delegates to the United Nations. I'm sure all of them wish they were here tonight.

Now it's all over; twenty-five years of anxious anticipation have fled in a matter of hours. A class reunion is a thrilling experience. You know, I bet that plans are already being made for our 50th and even 75th reunions. Let's hope the whole class can be here to share the gaiety of another reunion.

That's all for now, so this is Hugh Morgan signing off—goodnight, folks.

with her American "Mother"

Chris, are you O.K.?

I had many wonderful days here which will always be fresh in my memory. I regard myself as one of the luckiest girls in Turkey because I was sent to Cohasset, where people with their smiling faces and warm friendship brightened my year. I want to thank my kind and helpful family, all my friends and their parents, my teachers, and the A.F.S. chapter for making my year in the U.S.A. the most exciting and interesting days of my life so far.

Ute From Germany

My thanks go to everybody who has helped to make this year a success: to AFS in New York as well as to the chapter here, to my wonderful American family who have been so ready to help me with all my difficulties, to the teachers here, and to those back home who gave me the background for this wonderful experience, and last, but not least, to the nice and friendly people of Cohasset. In the years to come I hope to share my experience with my friends at home, and to keep the many friends I have won here.

This past summer was one that I will remember and revere forever. Not only did I visit one of the most beautiful countries in Europe, but I had the chance to meet and associate with many people of different nationalities, all of whom had a common interest—peace. My trip to Norway was an in valuable lesson in world understanding, and I gratefully thank the people of Cohasset and the American Field Service.

Right-14, left-27, right-6 . . . or was it left-14, right-27, left-6? Boy, we thought we'd die if we had to go through this every morning—and the embarrassment of asking one of those awesome seniors! However, locker combinations were just one of our problems. There were books of rules to be learned, bell schedules, passes if we lingered in the halls, and absence cards which must be obtained from the main office. But it didn't really matter. We were members of that elite class—the high schoolers.

8th Grade

Now we were veterans and we eagerly greeted the new underclassmen. We gleefully explained Wednsday's rotating period to the 7th graders. In those days the auditorium served many purposes—S.R.A. tests, I.Q. tests, and study halls. Mr. Peters found this arrangement advantageous, for the stage was the place for talkers; and litter bugs had fun sweeping the aisles. Public dances were held at the Ripley Road School (now Osgood), and there were numerous private parties held at Sargent's, Knight's, and Golden's. Spring was marred by the sound of drills and bulldozers. Our year ended on June 9th because there was not enough room for a group of noisy 8th graders during exam time.

9th Grade

We spent the first six minutes of our freshman year becoming re-oriented since the new wing had been built and a new code had been devised for room numbers. The addition marked the end of such glorious institutions as the five minute recess before x-period, and the split classes broken by lunch period. We had our first class meeting that year, and when the dust had settled, Bill Vanderweil had been elected president. Our first money making venture as a class was the Honey Comb Hop, headed by Bill. We ended the year by having our first real final exams. At last we were truly members of the high school.

10th Grade

We had reached the half-way mark in our wonderful high school careers. The girls discovered that one of the faculty had reached a turning point in her life and had changed her name.

That fall the Student Council declared Bermuda Day to help raise money for the A.F.S. It also initiated Penny Day as another A.F.S. project. Bill Vanderweil was unanimously re-elected class president (no one ran against him), and again under terrific direction we set forth on our second money-making venture—the "Kandy Kane Kotillion."

Mary Shyne's quiet slumber party is still remembered as one of the high points of the year.

That spring, brave and confident, we gave our second extravaganza of the year, "Blue Hawaii."

Towards the end of the year, the townspeople began to notice an increase in dented trees and telephone poles and rutted sidewalks as some of us took to the road with our "little pink slips."

11th Grade

The year commenced with an announcement of the new dress rules banning knee ticklers. That year we elected a different class president—Charles Hall. Early in the year our class rings arrived. In December, under Charlie's guiding hand, we staged "Wonderful by Night." The publicity skit at assembly for this dance cannot be easily forgotten. As the year drew to a close, we began to feel like "somebodies" as George Laugelli was named recipient of the Harvard Book Award, Janet Sargent was chosen to represent the school at Girls' State, Tom Perry at Boys' State. Our A.F.S'er was Bill Vanderweil, who went to Norway that summer. This was the last year we had to look up to other students.

12th Grade

Now we were it. We were seniors. Bunny Boyer was the Student Council president, Kathy Joyce was vice president. and Janet Sargent was secretary. Tom Perry was captain of the marshals, and good old Charlie Hall was serving his second term as president. The great rush had started. Tessahoc headed by Janet got off to a roaring start. We took the Iowa's for the last time. Then we held our great Homecoming dance and Terry Carraher reigned as queen. We had to think ahead, too—College Boards, applications, early admissions; Brad Wood became our representative to Student Government Day. Then came the question of the Prom which brought up money. car washes and Class Play, "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay," starring Wendy Mahon and Lois Hurley.

As spring approached we found it harder and harder to concentrate on school work as the Prom and Graduation Day became a realization. But it didn't seem to bother the teachers—they said it happened every year. But we knew we wouldn't be tops forever. We were only at the peak of one of the foothills in our lives. The long walk had really just begun.

The Staff at Work
— Well, Almost

Tessahoc Staff

(Seated) J. Sargent, editor-in-chief; M. Perrow, business editor; (standing) M. Shapiro, secretary; B. Wood, photography editor; S. Knight, literary editor; Mrs. Reid, advisor; K. Crolius, art editor; J. Harkness, sponsors and patrons editor; H. Morgan, circulation editor; M. O'Quin, treasurer; B. Vanderweil, senior album editor

We have worked long and hard to make the 1963 Tessahoc a true reflection of the school year 1962-1963.

We have climbed up the step of high school, and at graduation we will pass through a doorway to begin the long walk into the future. Although we take seperate pathways, we hope that each of these pathways will converge to success.

Many years from now we will turn the pages of our book remembering our last year at Cohasset High School.
